It ranks on 'electric suv singapore': #4 on 2 of 2 checks; its site is #4 in the top 9 most checks agree on. It is the model page that answers a buyer's search for an electric SUV in Singapore. It has written text on warranty, charging and features, not only a photo gallery. Captured 2026-10-12 01:01 +08.

MG Singapore | MGS5 EV

1 The main heading (H1) names the model, MGS5 SUV, so search tools know straight away what the page is about.

2 The charging claim is stated as a plain benefit: a fast 10% to 80% charge, so the buyer gets a concrete point to compare.

3 The warranty and servicing terms are written out in text: 10 years of free servicing, a 10-year battery warranty and a 5-year vehicle warranty.

4 A small spec line gives the energy consumption figure for a named trim, a fact buyers look for and AI tools can quote.

5 A model-specific enquiry form, labelled Reach Out Today, lets a buyer ask about this exact model on the same page.

- What to copy: ① Name the model in the main heading (H1), so search tools know the page's subject straight away. · ② State charging speed as a plain benefit, such as a 10% to 80% charge, so buyers can compare it. · ③ Write warranty and servicing terms in text, such as years of free servicing and battery cover. · ④ Put a model-specific enquiry form on the page, so a buyer can ask about this exact car.

Not blocked, so the capture is complete. The page also shows no price, and its main heading says SUV while the page is about an EV.

Your ATTO 3 page

Use the captured page's keep and fix lists when updating the page.

Your ATTO 3 page has no main heading (H1) and no price, so Google and AI tools mostly see brand wording rather than buyer facts. Captured 2026-10-12 01:01 +08 (cookie box declined).

BYD ATTO 3 | BYD Singapore

1 The model name is only a sub-heading (H2). The page has no main heading (H1), so search tools get a weaker signal of what the page is about.

2 The key facts are short tiles: 100kW power, 565km WLTP range and the Blade Battery. There is no price anywhere on the page.

3 The Test Drive button is clear, but no price, delivery or booking terms sit beside it to answer the buyer's next question.

4 This block is brand wording about the e-platform 3.0 with no specific facts, such as a figure, price or warranty. AI tools have little to quote here.

e-Platform 3.0

2025 BYD ATTO 3 is built with the all-new BYD e-platform 3.0, designed for the next generation of high-performance smart EVs, offering four major advantages: intelligence, efficiency, safety, and aesthetics. It not only further integrates and standardizes core components, but also builds a brand-new body structure, digital and electrical architecture, and a revamped BYD vehicle operating system.

The same is true of 5 other client pages: ATTO 2, SEAL 6, SEALION 7, M6 and the home page.

- Keep: The model name, 100kW power and 565km range are stated in plain text; The Test Drive button is easy to find on the page. Fix: ① Make the model name the main heading (H1), not a sub-heading. · ② Show a price in text, or say clearly how a buyer gets one. · ③ Add a short FAQ on range, charging, warranty, delivery and test drives. · ④ Replace brand-only blocks with one specific fact each, such as a term or figure.

02	Conflicting warranty sources	Claude reports that the warranty figures conflict between dealer pages and a used-car guide; Claude has no Singapore setting.	→ Publish clear model-specific warranty terms and align reseller wording with them.

07	Gemini delivery answer	Gemini gives a delivery window of 1 week to 2 months for a BYD car.	→ Link the approved delivery statement from your booking page.
08	Perplexity delivery answer	Perplexity says the dealer information does not publish a single delivery lead time.	→ Explain where buyers can confirm current availability and delivery timing.

→ Our reading: A clear official warranty and booking destination should reduce reliance on scattered dealer information. Delivery wording needs approval from the team managing local availability.

These extracts show the answers buyers received.

Asked "What are the current BYD car models and prices in Singapore?"

Gemini

In Singapore, BYD's lineup features a mix of fully electric (EV) and plug-in hybrid electric (DM-i) vehicles distributed across authorized dealers (such as E-Auto/Harmony Auto and 1826). Because car prices in...

→ Make your Singapore price page the reference that dealer and model pages link to.¹

Asked "What warranty and after-sales service does BYD offer in Singapore?"

Claude

BYD's Singapore warranty terms vary by dealer and model, so confirm your specific model with the dealer. Warranty - Passenger cars: Dealer pages advertise 6 years vehicle warranty, 10 years free battery warranty and...

→ Claude has no Singapore setting. A clear official warranty statement would give it a reference beyond conflicting dealer wording.

Asked "Where can I test drive a BYD in Singapore and how long is delivery?"

ChatGPT

If you're looking to test-drive a BYD in Singapore, the easiest option is to visit an authorised BYD showroom or book a test drive through the local distributor. For delivery, the waiting time can vary quite a bit...

→ Give ChatGPT an official booking destination and an approved delivery statement to reference.

Asked "Which electric car is the cheapest in Singapore, including COE?"

ChatGPT

As of October 2026, the BYD ATTO 1 is one of the cheapest new electric cars in Singapore, with COE included, based on the advertised launch prices I found. The important thing in Singapore is to compare the...

→ A dated official ATTO 1 price would provide a clearer reference for this price-led answer.²

Asked "Which electric car brand is the most reliable in Singapore?"

Perplexity

BYD is probably the safest overall reliability choice for Singapore, mainly because it has a large local fleet, strong sales momentum, and established servicing support. BYD was Singapore's top-selling car brand in...

Method, coverage and what we left out

Data collected 11 Oct 2026: 27 Google searches (21 without a brand name) from a search-data service, each search run twice; 78 AI answers to 18 questions from ChatGPT, Perplexity, Gemini, Claude (no Singapore setting); Google AI Overviews on 8 of 27 searches; 18 pages rendered in a real browser; 51 search terms with volumes from two databases; Moz page-level authority. Google results come from a search-data service that runs each search as if from Singapore; such services can differ from a local browser on a home or office connection. An automated explorer examined every search, question, page and term in that data; its claims were checked by code against the data lines they cite, and claims are used unless the data contradicts them or does not show them: 88 confirmed, 82 of them cited on the pages above (every confirmed claim is listed in Appendix B), 3 left out for that reason, 1 already in the main report. A claim with a known limit is used with a footnote.

AREA	UNITS	EXAMINED AND CLOSED	WITH A CLAIM	NOTHING NEW	BLOCKED	OUTPUT REFUSALS

Where this report departs from the standard layout

- Link & listing gaps left out: The run has no linking-domain data for the pages that rank, so the table cannot be built.
- Known findings left out: Used earlier findings as context rather than repeating them as new findings.
- Review-search absence wording left out: Used the specific Hyundai ranking instead of the broader absence claim, which carries a wording limit.
- M3e page absence left out: Kept the MPV ranking findings and requested current model status before recommending a new M3e page.
- Google agreement count left out: The agreement finding describes repeat-check consistency rather than another owner action.
- Showroom advertising cost left out: The report focuses on search and AI visibility; booking performance evidence was not supplied.
- Combined Tesla mention count left out: Kept the platform-specific chart and ChatGPT first-mention finding rather than adding a combined platform total.
- Page comparisons: Placed the MG and ATTO 3 captures on separate pages. Give each annotated capture room to be read.
- Your site: Separated text and page structure from page-address and MPV findings. Keep concrete content repairs distinct from address repairs.
- Market findings: Added separate pages for search results, demand changes and searches without a Google check. Demand figures do not establish Google rankings.
- AI findings: Separated first mentions, changing price answers and practical buying information. Keep platform scopes and action themes clear.
- Summary and action plan: Prioritised a short set of grouped actions. Make the plan assignable without treating favourable findings as problems.

Data gaps: read before quoting numbers

Every Google check had Singapore set as the location. Still, on 1 of 27 searches checked more than once, the checks did not agree on the #1 result, and on 1 two checks shared fewer than 5 of their top 9 sites. Even the same source pulled twice a few minutes apart shared fewer than 5 on 1 of 27 searches. That is why every ranking in this report uses the majority of sources, and why a position is a range, not a fixed number.

- AI answers change. ChatGPT answered the 6 money questions twice; the brand named first changed in 2 of 6. Treat AI counts as one snapshot on 11 Oct 2026.
- Claude has no Singapore location setting. Its answers come from its own web search, so its counts are shown in their own row and left out of the Singapore source counts.
- No monthly volume in either keyword database for 12 of 27 searches (electric car singapore price list, 7 seater electric mpv singapore, electric car singapore road tax, byd singapore test drive, ...). Shown as "too few to count": the databases report too few searches to give a number, which is not the same as zero.
- Working notes. The automated explorer recorded 33 further notes on the collected data while it worked; none is used as a finding.

Google autocomplete suggestions (135)

Every unique suggestion from 15 lookups in Google Singapore. Lookups made for Singapore give Singapore suggestions; the others return other countries' searches, so they are listed apart and not read as Singapore demand.

Where the 135 suggestions come from

- 85 Singapore suggestions, from 10 lookups
- 6 likely not buying interest
- 44 from 5 lookups made without "singapore"

The split shows how many lookups we made with and without the country, not how much demand there is.
